Dunham launches Jones endowment; board fêted

An invitation that takes you to Juban's Restaurant is a hard one to resist, so I didn't even try.

Endowment launch

The Dunham School hosted a wonderful dinner there Feb. 19 to announce the launch of the Gayten & Al Jones Shared Dunham Endowment. It was nice to meet Al, one of the city's most noted architects, and his lovely family. I also enjoyed visiting with Headmaster Bobby Welch and his equally lovely wife, Pam. And, after many telephone conversations and e-mails, I finally got to meet Kinch Cato, Dunham's director of advancement.

Museum

In outlining the past year's achievements, Louisiana Art & Science Museum Executive Director Carol Gikas certainly had lots to talk about at the Feb. 16 annual meeting. There were some great exhibits in 2008 — the "Art of Devotion," Ida Kohlmeyer's "Driven to Abstraction" and, my favorite, "Muppet Mania" — and equally great shows in the Irene Pennington Planetarium — I mean, Pink Floyd's "The Wall" rocks! She then recognized some of the folks who made such great things happen at LASM — the 100-plus 2009 Decade Members.

In other business, joining the board of trustees are David Faulk, Jeff Koonce, Colleen Levy, Francis Mayes, Gary Phillips and Tommy Teepell. Tapped for a second term were Tom Adamek, Leslie Albritton, Forest Mills and Sharon Pennington.

Thanked for their past service were departing trustees David Bondy, Jeanne Comeaux, Sue Anne Cox, Rebecca Cureau, Lolly Martin and Kathy West.
